To help create a talent pool of young, qualified Service engineers for the future, record uk has enrolled 3 Apprentices onto the new ADSA "Powered Pedestrian (automatic) Doors Installer and Service Engineers Apprenticeship" at South Staffordshire College, where they will spend 2 years covering training on installing and maintaining doors, finding and fixing faults and removal of doors.

After going through their induction and initial training, our new Apprentices Ryan, Joshua and Corey will spend the next couple of months out in the field learning about record and automatic doors before they start college in September.
