In his new role, Stephen will help to boost our Physical Access Control Initiative and bring together the diverse range of products in our portfolio, including speed gates, our breach control system, security doors and revolvers, and provide focus, expertise and build long-lasting relationships with customers.

Stephen commented “It is a privilege to be working with such a great company. All the people I have met so far are very focused and extremely welcoming. Latterly my specialism has been in access control and speed lanes in particular. The vision is exciting and the possibilities endless. Watch this space for what promises to be a significant new chapter for all concerned”.
